“I place it among the highest qualifications of the teacher that he should have just views of education. I consider it all important that he should have a well-defined object at which to aim whenever he meets a young mind in the transition state. He should have an ideal of a well-educated human soul teaching a healthy, well-developed human body—an ideal which he at once and systematically labors to reach, as does the sculptor when he commences his work upon the quarried marble.”—Page.

History of Athens College

Athens College was projected in October, 1842, at a session of the Tennessee Annual Conference held in Athens. In 1843 the Legislature of Alabama granted a charter incorporating the Female Institute of the Tennessee Annual Conference. The character and dignity of the undertaking may be estimated by the Board of Trustees named in the act of incorporation, viz.: A. L. P. Green, Thomas Maddin, Ambrose F. Driskill, Joshua Bucher, Frederick G. Ferguson, Daniel Coleman, Ira E. Hobbs, Benjamin W. Maclin, Thomas Bass, James F. Sowell, Thomas Stith Malone, James C. Malone, William Richardson, George S. Houston, Richard W. Vassar, Jonathan McDonald, James Craig.

The lofty aims of the institution were further shown in the election of the learned and sweet-spirited Rev. R. H. Rivers, D. D., author of Rivers' Mental and Moral Philosophy, as its first President.

In 1870 the North Alabama Conference was organized, and Athens, with all the northern part of the State of Alabama, came into the confines of that Conference, and there was transferred to the North Alabama Conference all church property in that territory formerly held by the Tennessee Conference.

In 1872 the charter was amended, changing the name to Athens Female Institute. In 1889 the charter was amended again, and the name changed to Athens Female College. The name has since been corrected to Athens College.

The institution is historic. It has been a church school from its inception. It has been under the control of three different Conferences—the Tennessee, the Alabama, and the North Alabama. It is located in a community that has given to Alabama two United States Senators, a Governor, six Supreme Court Judges, two Chief Justices, and a long line of other distinguished men and cultured women. It is today the only institution for the education of young women owned or controlled exclusively by the North Alabama Conference.

The College has had an honorable history, and is enshrined in the hearts of thousands of our people. There is not a district in the Conference in which there are not parsonage homes presided over by Athens College women. There is scarcely a State in the Union in which its alumnae are not to be found. The South owes a debt of gratitude to Athens College.

Location

Situated on the great Southern thoroughfare, the main line of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, fourteen miles from its junction with the main line of the Southern, and just half way between the two great centers of Southern Methodism, Nashville and Birmingham, near the foothills of the Cumberland Range, with about twice the elevation of either Birmingham, Nashville or Montgomery, the location of Athens College constitutes one of its greatest assets.

Athens, the county seat of Limestone County, has about 3,000 population, and is the second highest town on the L. & N. between Cincinnati and the Gulf.

A new line is being constructed by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. This is to form a part of the parallel track to the Gulf, now in process of construction, to make ready for the increase of transportation demands which will result from the opening of the Panama Canal. Athens is the junction point of the present main line with the new survey. Railroad facilities in Athens are unexcelled and perfect connection can be made for all points.

The town has an excellent water and electric-light plant, sewerage system and Bell telephone exchange.

Buildings and Grounds

MAIN BUILDING.

The main structure is of brick. It is of beautiful Ionic design, three stories high. In these are the Academy study hall and class rooms on the first floor, with sleeping rooms on the second and third floors.

This building was erected in 1843. It consists of the main building and three large wings, constituting in reality a group of four buildings connected as one.

The dining room is spacious. The entire building is heated by steam, well ventilated and lighted by electricity. The College is connected with the city waterworks.

The College grounds comprise some sixteen acres, with well-appointed, majestic and beautiful groves of oak, poplar and maple. The College is not more than five minutes' walk from the depot, church and business part of the city. The quiet retirement and seclusion of the premises are as perfect as though miles in the country.

A fine tract of land to the rear and adjoining the College campus has recently been purchased for an athletic field for the College girls. This tract has several springs on it, and is bounded by a flowing creek of clear spring water, which greatly adds to the beauty of the new acquisition.

FLORENCE BROWN MEMORIAL DORMITORY

This Dormitory is the first of a series of dormitories to be erected facing the north front of the College campus. It is situated to the rear of the main building north of the Music Hall, and is approached from both the west and north fronts by a winding driveway. The Dormitory is of pure Colonial architecture, with Ionic columns across the north front. It accommodates about forty students, and is reserved for the use of Juniors and Seniors. It is a memorial to Miss Sarah Florence Brown, for five years connected with Athens College. Miss Brown died in the fall of 1910.

THE MUSIC HALL.

Just south and east of the Main Building, facing upon the west front campus, is the new Music Hall. This building, made possible through the generosity of the local citizens, and of the North Alabama Conference, stands as a monument to that spirit of real culture which is one of the most pleasing features of Athens.

In its architectural beauty, in its interior arrangements of auditorium, studios and practice rooms, in its supplying the great need of accommodation for the Schools of Fine Arts, this building has a large place. The exterior is in perfect harmony with the prevailing Greek style of the Main Building and of Brown Hall. From the spacious vestibule, wide stairs and doors lead into the basement, the auditorium and to the practice rooms and studios. The auditorium is perfectly lighted and ventilated, has a convenient stage, with dressing rooms, and, with the gallery, will seat comfortably an audience of six hundred and fifty. It is fitted with comfortable opera chairs, heated with steam and lighted by electricity. The practice rooms are heated, lighted and ventilated in accordance with the best methods, and are supplied with deadened walls. On the third floor are the various spacious studios of the departments of Piano, Violin, Voice, Art, and Oratory. The Art Studio has the ideal arrangements of north skylight and kiln for burning china. The size, the shape, and furnishings of the Oratory Studio are delightful.

THE COLLEGE LIBRARY.

Realizing that in order for the student to get full benefit of her college course, she must have access to well-selected books, the administration has succeeded in gathering together a valuable library. Several thousand volumes have been added in the last four years, and influences are at work to secure extensive contributions.

The library is installed in a pleasant room 40x40 feet, which is accessible to every portion of the plant. This room is heated with steam, lighted with electricity, and fitted up with bookcases and reading tables, where the student has access to the daily papers and standard magazines, material for taking notes, etc.

Local Educational Advantages

Athens, one of the oldest towns in Alabama, has long been noted for the culture and refinement of its society, and has contributed to the State its full quota of distinguished men and elegant women. It is an ideal place for a seat of learning, and is one of the educational centers of the State. The Eighth District Agricultural School, an excellent public grammar school, Athens Preparatory School, Greene University School (boys' preparatory), and Athens College are all situated here.

Examination of new students applying for entrance to the Freshman class or for advanced standing, who do not come from accredited high schools or colleges, will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 15 and 16, 1914. Students who desire to take these examinations should report for classification on Monday.

Examinations are held at the close of every quarter for the purpose of keeping accurate records of the student's work. Absence from these examinations prevents a student from receiving credit for that course in which the failure to take an examination occurs. Upon the presentation of a certificate from a physician stating illness as the cause of inattendance, and upon the payment of a fee of $1.00 for each examination taken out of schedule time, a student will be given a special examination. Receipt showing the payment of the fee must accompany the request for each special examination.

To secure credit for a subject, an average of 70% must be made on the entire work in that subject.

No degree student will be permitted to take less than fifteen or more than nineteen hours of class work. Advanced work in Music and Art may count toward a degree.

Domestic Work

Around no phase of antebellum days do sweeter, tenderer memories linger than around the lavender-scented chests, the sparkling crystal glasses, the glistening silver, the polished mahogany, and the old-fashioned waxed floors—in other words, than around the homes that Southern housewives knew so well how to keep; and in no form did the South more beautifully express its social integrity than in the beautiful home-making of its womanhood.

In order to foster these ideals so nobly exemplified by our mothers, which in the machine-made life of this generation might perish, we shall seek to require each student to perform each day some home duty under the direction of the instructor in Domestic Science and Art. The work will not be menial in character, but they will be instructed in the simple but elegant arts that the daughters of every refined home should know how to perform. These duties will not be permitted to take more than thirty minutes of time daily, nor will they interfere in any respect with the academic courses of study.

A competent instructor of Domestic Science and Domestic Art, a graduate of the Thomas Training School, of Detroit, Mich., has charge of this work.

All students must give thirty minutes daily to domestic duties.

The twelve tuition scholarships are in the hands of the presiding elders, and applicant must apply to the presiding elder of her district. The award will be based upon the merit and need of aid of the applicant. The district scholarships cannot be awarded to applicants who are able to pay tuition.

To Patrons

With good reason, patrons hold us responsible for the welfare of their daughters. Therefore it is imperative that parents decline to sanction in their daughters, who are in our school, any violation of our rules.

Athens College is designed to be distinctively a Christian school, with clear-cut Methodist proclivities; and, as such, it endeavors constantly to serve as a faithful expositor and exponent of the faith for which Methodism stands. Nevertheless, respectful regard is held for the religious tenets of patrons and pupils of other communions. Touching each student, our one purpose is to secure well-rounded character, developed and endowed according to standards erected by the Christian religion.

Daily, in the College chapel, the Faculty and students come together to read the Scriptures, to sing and pray. All students are expected to attend chapel exercises. The Bible is a text-book in the College. Lectures are given by the President on the general scope of Christian doctrine and discipline, and the necessity for personal piety is impressed upon mind and heart.

Boarding students, as a rule, attend religious services at the Methodist Church. Those of other denominations are permitted to attend the church of their choice. Sunday School is conducted in the College Chapel and the members of the faculty have charge of the classes. A class in Methods for Sunday School Management is one of the desirable features.

1. Parents are reminded of the urgent importance of pupils being present at the beginning of the session. A few days lost at the beginning may mar the progress of the whole year. Pupils should remain at their studies without interruption.

2. Each boarder furnishes her own toilet articles, towels, table napkins, pillow, pillow cases, sheets, blankets, bedspreads, teaspoon, and tumbler—all marked in her own name.

3. Damage or breakage of furniture, beyond ordinary wear, will be charged to the inmates of rooms where damage is done.

4. Costly jewelry and costly clothing should not be brought to college. The outfit of a college girl should be simple. Money and costly jewelry must be carried on the person or deposited in the safe in the office. Valuables must not be left in bedrooms.

5. It is positively harmful for students to have large amounts of spending money. To meet necessary and unforeseen expenses, reasonable deposits may be made with the President. Except by instruction from parents, money will not be advanced to pupils. Athens College, while intended to be a college of moderate expense, may become very expensive if parents have poor judgment in this matter.

6. Telegrams for students must be sent in care of the President. All packages sent by express should be prepaid and sent in care of the President.

7. When students are to return home, written instructions to that effect should be sent to the President.

8. Contracts are made for the year and are binding for that time. Whenever a pupil is entered it is regarded that between President and patron a contract is implied for the entire school year. Withdrawal from school, even for a few days, not only impairs scholarship, but induces a spirit of restlessness unfavorable to study. Students entering within two weeks of beginning of term are charged for full term. For absence from school no deduction will be made, except for protracted sickness. No deductions are made for holidays, nor for absence for the last six weeks of school.

9. Students in dormitories care for their own rooms.

10. Leave chafing dishes at home. They are dangerous and threaten with two evils—fire and dyspepsia.

11. Parents and guardians are requested to send no boxes of eatables to boarding students, save at Christmas or Thanksgiving. Good, ripe fruit is permissible at any time. One of the greatest sources of poor health and ineffective work is irregularity in eating.

The Ten Rules

1. All students must obey all bells promptly.

2. Orderly arrangements of rooms and toilet at all times is required.

3. Students must observe hours of recreation and rest as well as of study.

4. Students must observe the Sabbath quietly.

5. Attendance at Sunday School and church is required.

6. Students must make prompt report of sickness to nurse.

7. Students must give cheerful obedience to the direction of officers.

8. Borrowing money, books, jewelry, or clothing is prohibited.

9. No students may leave any class or change a study without the consent of the Professor and of the Chairman of the Classification Committee.

10. Only in cases of special authorization by the President may students make accounts with local individuals or stores.

Dress

To secure neatness and order upon the part of young ladies, both as regards personal attire and arrangement of clothing and rooms, special and painstaking care is given.

A handsome, but not expensive, tailor-made suit will be furnished by or before October 15. This suit is made in New York, and is fitted by a tailor sent out by the firm furnishing the suits. No college girls are dressed in better taste than are those of Athens College. The total cost of uniform, including hat and gloves to match, is $16.50. Our girls, not the College, get the benefit of wholesale prices. Parents are requested to make no special outlay for dress in advance. For commencement, only simple costumes are permitted. Prohibition stands against décollette dresses and extremely short sleeves.

Health

In the history of a school, health is a matter of prime importance. The most satisfactory sanitary conditions are maintained in the school.

Not only is the greatest care exercised in the screening of the dining room, pantry, kitchen, infirmary, etc., but a Forbes Sterilizing Apparatus has been installed in the building at a large expense, by which every drop of drinking water is sterilized before reaching the inmates of the College. The best sanitary advice is consulted in order that the health of the school may be maintained. It may be well to state here that the analysis of the drinking water used in the College before sterilization shows it to be absolutely pure, and that the sterilizing plant is installed simply as a protection against any possibility of infection. The water supply is pure freestone, what is known in engineering circles as "boiler-pure" water.

Infirmary

A well-ventilated, well-heated infirmary is maintained. An experienced graduate nurse is in charge. Her entire time is devoted to looking after the health of our girls. In case of illness the patient could not receive better attention in a hospital. In cases of protracted illness patrons will be charged with the actual amount of expense incurred by the College.

The College Home

The College Home is under the immediate supervision of the President. Boarders are received and regarded as members of the family and cared for as our own daughters. No pains are spared to secure all the advantages of a well-ordered, Christian home. Teachers residing in the College building render efficient aid in making this a safe and pleasant home for the pupils. A faithful night watchman is on duty from six in the evening until six in the morning.

A generous table of good, wholesome food, well cooked, is kept. An efficient steam-heating plant keeps the buildings comfortable in the coldest weather. Pupils boarding in the College are free from the interruption of society, do not incur exposure to inclement weather, lose no time on account of rainy days, and are under rules conducive to habits of study and good health. The buildings are equipped with enameled baths, sanitary sewerage, electric lights, chemical fire extinguishers, etc.

Scholastic Year

The next scholastic year will open on Wednesday, September 16, 1914, and close on May 26, 1915.

For convenience in making payments, the school year is divided into two financial sessions, the first beginning on September 16, 1914, and the second beginning on January 21, 1915.

*Payment for the first session will be required upon entrance, and payment for the second session on January 21, 1915.

We cannot do a credit business without impairing the efficiency of the school.

The student body is affiliated with the Central Division of the Young Women's Christian Association. The College Association is in a good, healthy condition; a lively interest is taken in all the different departments of work, and its active members are drawn from the students of high class standing. Its influence upon the College life of the girls is excellent.

Officers 1913-1914

MARY WHITMAN, President.
MOOTIE LU BUCHANAN, Vice President.
LUCRETIA HENRY, Secretary.
ELIZABETH BUCHANAN, Treasurer.

Literary Societies

The students are organized into two literary societies. The object of these societies is to promote college spirit, to foster an interest in letters, and to acquaint the students with the principles of parliamentary usage. These societies meet on Monday afternoon of each week, and membership in one or the other is compulsory.

George Eliot Literary Society

Officers for 1913-1914

Jane Hamilton Childs Literary Society

CLARICE BURTON, President.

Athletic Association

In addition to the daily Physical Culture course given free of charge to all students, outdoor sports of a nature adapted to the use of young women, are encouraged at Athens College by the Athletic Association. It is not, however, our purpose to develop athletes among our girls. Tennis courts and basketball grounds stimulate the desire to excel in these games. The students are permitted to engage in match games with students of other institutions, provided they can arrange the meet upon our own campus. During the current session we have had the pleasure of basketball games with Butler's Preparatory School, Huntsville High School, Sheffield High School, and the University of Alabama Co-Eds. On the occasion of the celebration of the first of May, Field Day is observed, and prizes are offered and won in all kinds of athletic contests.

Alumnæ Association

The Alumnæ Association has never been stronger nor more active than now. Systematic work has been begun looking to raising funds for the erection of a memorial hall.

The report of the Treasurer shows a substantial cash balance already in hand, and the Association feels greatly encouraged as to the ultimate success of their undertaking.
